My Fellow Patriots,

As you may remember from our summer issue of Reflections, there is a tremendous emphasis being placed on the areas of science, technology, engineering, math and medicine (STEMM) in education these days, and with good reason. The high schools of today are laying the foundation and preparing students for careers that don't even exist yet. We are extremely proud of the work our students do in scientific research, engineering problem solving, robotics, industrial technology, computer programming, and medicine. We take very seriously our mission to prepare students to be successful in these fields once they leave our hallowed halls.

That being said, however, a true Catholic education is one that educates the whole person; body, mind, and spirit. We must never forget the importance of exposing students to classic literature, visual art, drama, and music so that they gain an appreciation for culture and develop their God-given talents in those areas. As you will read in this issue of Reflections, Carroll students are thriving in the Fine Arts!

Our drama club, the "Carroll Freedom Players," produces a fall play and spring musical each year. They host a school talent show, attend workshops in Michigan and New York, and run a summer camp for aspiring thespians each summer. Our marching band and color guard continue to bring home state, regional and national awards for their innovative programs and outstanding performances. Additionally, students are provided opportunities to learn and perform through our jazz and concert bands, as well as drumline and winter guard. Carroll is the only Catholic high school in southwest Ohio to be part of the National Art Honor Society. We offer classes in a variety of mediums from Ceramics to Digital Photography. Our AP Studio Art students have won numerous awards and their work is displayed and sold annually at The Fine Art Center at Town & Country.

Carroll students continue to thrive in an area of education that has struggled in recent years across the nation in both public and private schools. Many schools are cutting their arts programming and depriving students of these life-enriching experiences. I am happy to say, however, that Carroll's commitment to the arts is unwavering and I am confident that our students will continue to produce extraordinary dramatic productions, musical performances, and beautiful works of art long into the future.

The Arts are most certainly alive at Carroll High School and that is why today is a great day to be a Patriot!

Faithfully,

"Finding a really great group of friends can be rare. Some people spend their entire lives searching for one and never succeed. That's why I consider myself to be 'one of the lucky ones.' I found my group in the Carroll High School Marching Band. They are like a family to me and are the greatest friends I have ever had." These words, spoken by Lindsey Collins '16, are a common theme among Marching Patriots.

Rebecca Dunne '14, Drum Major Josh Marino '14, and Maddie Boone '14 at the Bellbrook Invitational Awards Ceremony where the Marching Patriots took all of the Class AA awards, including first place. They also received 3rd place overall, defeating a number of bands larger than them.

"The Marching Patriots represent Carroll High School with class at every event they attend. It makes me proud to be a Patriot!" states Christie Collins, band parent of Nicole '13, Lindsey '16, and Kaylie '18.

Carroll High School band parents have a reason to be proud. For the fall of 2013, the Carroll Marching Band received first place in Class AA at all four of the Mid-States Band Association (MSBA) Invitational competitions they attended. In addition, they were the top Ohio band, and 2nd overall, in the 2013 MSBA Class AA Championship Finals and 8th in the nation for Division A at the 2013 Bands of America (BOA) Grand National Championships at Lucas Oil Stadium in Indianapolis. This is quite an accomplishment when BOA has almost 100 bands participate from over 19 states!

Carroll's Music Department has a history of success and a great reputation among other schools in the state. Hundreds of trophies received over the past 50 years line the walls of the band room. Carroll High School is even listed as one of the powerhouses of the nation in the BOA Hall of Champions as being the 1983 Division A Grand National Champion! In those days, under the leadership of Mr. David Luzio, the band and drill team consisted of over 150 members and used a unique and difficult precision drill style used by very few schools at the time.

Carroll's current band directors, Mr. Carl Soucek (2002-present) and Mr. Ryan Griffin '97 (2008-present), have consistently led the Patriots to the top of the charts at MSBA Finals. With 53 band and guard members on the field, the Marching Patriots continue to have an amazing sound and proudly defeat much larger bands!

Mr. Soucek states, "I'm extremely proud of the group this year - not only the excellence that they bring to the performance field, but also the professionalism in their approach to rehearsal. They know that every day is an opportunity to grow, and they always rise to the occasion. It is truly an honor to work with these kids and the rest of the staff."

According to band parent, Christine (Vogel) Marino '88: "Mr. Soucek and Mr. Griffin have taught both of our sons, Josh '14 and Jonathan '16, through example and expectation, helping them achieve more than they ever thought they could, giving them confidence that comes from working in a group where the expectations and respect are high. Being in the band has taught them skills individually and as a group, and both have learned to be better leaders and followers. As they graduate and move on to college, we know that the boys will use all of what they have learned in Carroll's music program."

Jim and Linda Stocker are also grateful for their son's experiences (William '14). Jim explains, "Billy's participation in the band has put him in positions of responsibility and leadership. It has made him part of a large team effort to outperform dozens of similar groups from other high schools, learning from both successes and failures. It has also helped him academically, both by putting time constraints on his

"The most stirring thing for me is to hear the band loudly recite a prayer before each performance..."

homework and by providing him with classmates who could help him in spare moments in the band room...and giving him the opportunity to help others as well. The most stirring thing for me is to hear the band loudly recite a prayer before each performance and competition, boldly reaffirming the importance of God in their lives and their identity as Catholics."

Band parents definitely make sacrifices - both in cost of the program and time to help build props, work in the pit crew, volunteer at camp and competitions, etc. - but it is all worth it in the end to see their children take the field and give it their all.

Charlie Watters, father of Auzzie '14, states: "When I tell people about the time I spend with the band as pit crew, their first reaction is, 'That must be a big sacrifice to commit your time to that,' to which I reply, 'spending time with my son and his friends and having the opportunity to experience the joyous music they work so hard on and the camaraderie of the fellow parents is not a sacrifice but instead a blessing.'"

In the era of failing levies where music programs are being cut, how blessed Carroll High School is to have such a remarkable and competitive music department! According to Principal Matt Sableski '91, "The arts are most certainly alive at Carroll High School and that is one reason why today is such a great day to be a Patriot! Our music students, along with our drama and visual arts students, continue to thrive in an area of education that has struggled in recent years across the nation in both public and private schools. With an emphasis on STEMM education, limited budgets, and increased number of core requirements, many schools are cutting their arts programs and depriving students of these life-enriching experiences. I am happy to say, however, that Carroll's commitment to the arts is unwavering! I am confident that our students will continue to produce extraordinary dramatic productions, musical performances, and beautiful works of art long into the future."

Meet Dr. John Draper, Class of 1999

Co-Designer of the 2013 OSU Marching Band "Hollywood Blockbusters" Show

"Carroll prepared me so well for the next level. It prepared me for life!"

These are the words of John Draper, a 1999 Carroll High School graduate, who co-designed the October 26, 2013 "Hollywood Blockbusters" Show for the Ohio State-

Penn State football game along with the band director, Jonathan Waters. Innovative band formations included Superman running to a phone booth, changing into his cape and flying across the field to right a falling skyscraper; the bombing of a ship from the Pirates of the Caribbean; and a T-Rex eating a Michigan player and spitting out his helmet afterwards. After wowing the 100,000 people in the Ohio State Stadium, the show went viral and was viewed over 14 million times on YouTube and shared all over national news sites.

Draper began designing band formations in 2004 after enrolling in a college course for future band directors (for fun). He was given the opportunity to design the spring show for the OSU athletic band that year. Since the show was a success, Waters gave him the opportunity to help with other marching band performances.

In 2006, Draper talked to Waters about the idea for a Hollywood Show. John explains, "You can do the most complex maneuver and no one will bat an eye but if you put Mickey Mouse on the field, everyone goes nuts. Football half-time shows are all about the entertainment for the crowd. So that year, the Ohio State Band sunk the Titanic, brought Darth Vader on the field, and the crowd lost their minds!"

Since then, Draper has collaboratively designed five other OSU marching band performances. Currently a Visiting Assistant Professor in the Statistics Department at Ohio State, he uses his knowledge of statistics to help him chart and design band formations. John states, "People don't realize what is involved with staging and how difficult it is. Trumpets may need to be in the front for melody but they might also need to be somewhere else for the image." Draper's background in mathematics provides the unique ability to determine how to efficiently move people to entertain without compromising the quality of the music. It helps to have been in the band himself - he knows what people logically can and cannot do.

John is very humble when he talks about what he does. "I put dots on paper but the students perform it and make it all come to life." The OSU Marching Band has a fixed number of 225 (16 rows of 14 people) but only 192 march in a given week. For each row of 14 people, 12 will march and 2 are alternates. Every Monday, the 2 will challenge the others in the row and the best 12 are determined to be the marchers for that week. Because of the exact numbers and breakdown of instruments, it makes it easier for drill design. The directors always know what they are working with.

Draper always knew he wanted a career in math. After graduating from Carroll, he received his math undergrad degree from Florida State University where he participated in the marching band for four years. From there, he received his Masters and Doctorate degrees in Statistics from Ohio State, graduating in the winter of 2011. At Ohio State, he was in the marching band for five years which extended his time there but he can't imagine his college experience any other way.

When John entered college, he was definitely prepared for the next level; it was an easy transition. Carroll High School gave him a strong background and the opportunity to be well-rounded in a number of different fields, giving him appreciation for all of those areas.

As a Carroll freshman, Draper knew he wanted to take honors classes so he wasn't sure if he had the time for band. He also wasn't sure if he was interested since few of his grade school friends from Immaculate Conception were going to participate. But, when he found out that the band was going to travel to Florida that year, this was the deciding factor to join. He met others and opened his circle of friends. High school band was about the camaraderie and connections, having fun, and being part of a family.

Draper highly encourages Marching Patriots to try out for band in college; they will be challenged but they have to keep working at it. The reward is being part of the entire community and part of the game. In college, John experienced 4 national championship games (2 at OSU and 2 at FL State) and 2 Final Four's. He states, "I was not only there but I was on the field performing. I wasn't a football fan before but now I am a huge fan. Being part of the band got me around the game."

John participated in the Marching Band for 13 years - not because of a career choice but for the love of the organization. It was a huge time commitment but he chose to be in it for life. John says, "Participating in band allowed me to stay connected to something I enjoy without making it my livelihood." He will never forget his memories from the band!

ACADEMICS

The 2014 National Merit Program honors eight Carroll students this year. Four have been named Commended Students: Patrick Fleisher, Dante Haponek, Wesley Holmes and Sally Kozar. Four have been named Semifinalists and will continue in the Merit Scholarship competition: Karen Hildebrant, Kristina Holkamp, Jacob Ollier, and Alexander Trimbach. Read complete article here.

National Honor Society inducted 113 juniors and seniors into its ranks in November - a well-deserved honor. Among the qualifications needed to be selected for National Honor Society, juniors and seniors must have a GPA of 3.7, be of exemplary character and exhibit an enduring commitment to the qualities of leadership and service at Carroll and/or in the community. SERVICE

Cookies for Kairos is an ongoing service Carroll students provide to the Kairos prison ministry, whose purpose is building strong, Christian communities among the residents of correctional institutions. After a Kairos weekend, residents continue their faith walk by participating weekly in small Prayer and Share Groups. 10,000 to 12,000 dozen home-baked cookies are needed for each Kairos weekend, used symbolically throughout the retreat experience, with each participating organization providing a portion of that total. Mr. Jim Murray, Campus Minister, states, "Our students came through with true Patriot spirit and Christian compassion! We provided 130 dozen cookies to the Kairos for Cookies prison ministry." Lex Luther, our Kairos contact, shares, "Your students really care; I see this in their actions. I was looking at the cookies after I loaded them into the truck tonight to take down to Lebanon in the morning. The cookies were the best I have seen in a long time. They are large in size and packed full of chocolate, nuts and love. Each cookie screams, 'I care - God loves you.'"

Carroll students bake cookies with Ruskin Elementary students for Cookies For Kairos ministry.

Service opportunities at Ruskin Elementary occur on Tuesday afternoons. From 2:45 to 4:15, 15-25 Carroll students mentor Ruskin students in all grade levels. Mentoring involves the students working with the KREED program (Kids Restoring East End Dayton), coordinated by Carroll Alumna, Julie McGlaun '79. The program involves setting positive examples for each other and doing projects together, i.e. making cookies, preparing a skit, making thankful signs, and just talking with each other. This also involves tutoring students after school and helping them with their homework. Miracle

Senior Zach Uzzel tutors a Ruskin student.

Makers is another after-school program at Ruskin that offers arts, physical education and different learning classes for all levels. Our students assist the Kindergarten, 1st and 2nd Grade and Art classes. This service opportunity runs throughout the school year and is coordinated by the Revolution Club.

KREED and Carroll students get to know each other.

The Carroll Men's Soccer team's annual work with South Dayton T.O.P. Soccer continues to bring smiles to those they serve. The Outreach Program (T.O.P.) is a U.S. Youth Soccer Association- and Ohio South Youth Soccer Association-affiliated program. Working with an all-volunteer force, the emphasis is on fun and participation, not winning. This special needs soccer program invites children from all areas to play; children of all abilities, who cannot or have difficulty playing in the recreational programs due to a special challenge. "Buddies," like Carroll's Men's Soccer players, assist on the field during the games. Junior Noah Kummer, Carroll Varsity Goalkeeper, reflects, "T.O.P. Soccer was a great experience. Being able to teach kids and teens with mental and physical disabilities the game of soccer was a blessing." Supported by the Centerville Noon Optimist Club, The South Dayton T.O.P. Soccer continues to encourage players and volunteers to participate. According to Scott Molfenter, Carroll Athletic Director and Head Soccer Coach, "T.O.P. Soccer was a positive experience for the young men in our program. Not only was it a good team bonding activity, it was also a great way for our players to share their love of the game with others who welcomed their enthusiasm. It was yet another way our students could see a rewarding use of their time and energy."

The Consumer Science Club, beginning in 2010, began donating new pajamas for children, aged newborn through 18, who benefit from them, both emotionally and economically. The program, PJs from Grandma, began in 2008 and is continually growing their list of charitable organizations that serve children and families in need. According to PJs From Grandma President, Judith Mifsud, "Pajamas are something that most of us take for granted. Thank you for this wonderful gift that will help us provide new pajamas to many children who may otherwise not know the comfort and security they bring." The club will also be preparing and serving a meal for the Dayton Ronald McDonald House guests this winter.

ARTS

The Freedom Players transformed their stage this fall into A Little Piece of Heaven, a tender story of friendship, written by Matthew Carlin. This play is a tale of lost items and found hearts when Henry and Elizabeth, the angelic owners of a curiosity shop, "A Little Piece of Heaven," help customers find items that have been lost and, once found, make a difference in their lives. One day, Michael, a biker, is stranded at the shop and meets Lily, an 87-year-old woman, who has been searching for something for years. This story is about their friendship, and the twists and turns of events in life. How did it feel for a 17-year-old to play an 87-year-old woman? Anna Schlegel relates, "It certainly wasn't easy. I learned a lot about myself and a lot about others through this rewarding experience." According to Drama Director, Mrs. Toni Weitz, "The play was a great success! We had a great crowd for all three performances and the students and crew gave a professional-style performance. I'm very proud of them!" Tickets will be on sale soon for the Spring Musical, "On The Town", March 21, 22 and 23. Read more about "A Little Piece of Heaven" and cast members . . .

The National Art Honor Society, once again, created colorful soup bowls and mugs to sell in the Spirit Shop's Annual Christmas Sale in December. Each year, the students choose a charity to which they donate the proceeds of the sale. This year, they chose to purchase gifts for Carroll's Giving Tree. Wonderfully, they were able to purchase over 100 gifts, which went to the Secret Santa Shop, run by Catholic Social Services.

Carroll has an active international student population, hailing from China, Germany, Korea, Haiti and Vietnam. This year, Carroll students and our international students, have gathered together to form the new International Club. Moderated by Ms. Tara Knopp, the goal of the club is to bring current Carroll students and international students together in unique and fun activities. They started the year with an outing to an all-American pastime - a Dayton Dragons game! One student commented, "I was so surprised to find out one of the new international students had never seen a baseball game in her life." Two activities the students participated in during the first semester were Homecoming 101 and an International Student Celebration Day at Kettering Fairmont High School. There are many exciting events planned for second semester! All students are invited to join the club - the more the merrier in 2014!

Faculty Spotlight: A Visit With Dr. Leann Poston, M.D.

Students listen attentively on a Monday afternoon to a talk about the ethics of stem cell research. Typical school day, right? If it is part of a classroom lecture. This afternoon it is not. It is a special opportunity offered by Mr. Brun's Pats 4 Life Club, to hear Carroll faculty member, Dr. Leann Poston, M.D., share her knowledge on the subject. Freshman Julia Arnold states, "I always see stem cell research in the news and wanted to hear what Dr. Poston had to say. I thought it was just about human cloning but learned it involved a lot of different ethical issues." This is just one of the fulfilling roles Dr. Poston plays at Carroll High School.

"I knew in grade school I wanted to be a doctor. Science was always my favorite subject."

member's skepticism that she would get into medical school made that aspiration even more compelling. Good thing! She would need that drive to propel her through the many long hours it would take, earning an undergraduate degree at Xavier University, then entering Wright State University's School of Medicine, earning her Doctor of Medicine degree in 1990. Dr. Poston began her Residency at Dayton Children's Hospital - as many as 100 hours per week! After having two of her three children, she concluded her residency in 1993, embarking on her career as a pediatrician.

Dr. Poston began her career with the Partnership Clinic at Wright Patterson Air Force Base while working at Children's Emergency Room.

She later moved on to private practice at Group Health Associates. She and her husband would soon face a difficult decision, however, when the practice moved to Cincinnati - follow his career as Administrator for Greene County or hers as a pediatrician. For Dr. Poston, it was an easy decision - an opportunity to spend more time with her children while they were young. She ended her practice on January 31, 2002. On recommendation from a friend, then-Carroll Principal, Joe Sens, gave her a call that changed all that. She quickly changed her plans from looking for another practice to join part-time to, four days later, teaching as a part-time substitute teacher for Carroll's Anatomy & Physiology class. Fortunately, the part-time status still afforded her time with her children.

Eleven years later, Dr. Poston still teaches Anatomy & Physiology, a course taught on a college level with a college textbook, preparing students considerably for more challenging coursework. Dr. Poston explains, "In Project Lead The Way, students do hands-on projects like play-dough models of the brain to illustrate physiology, but we learn the physiology first and, when they have a good understanding of it, do dissections and labs." A new venture for the class last year was visiting 6th grade students at eleven local, Catholic elementary schools. In their project, titled "The body: can't live without it," Carroll juniors and seniors in Anatomy class prepared study tables on the body systems with interactive short labs, organs, models, demonstrations and posters, bringing with them organs, such as the heart, kidney and eye that the students could touch and explore. Carroll's Vernier probes, donated by the Leventis family, allowed students to do quick labs measuring their blood pressure, pulse and respiration and how it changes with exercise. The Anatomy students also explained basic structure and function of the organs and how to make lifestyle choices that prevent future disease. The overall goal was to help these 6th grade students not only learn about the human body, but to spark interest in careers in the healthcare field.

Dr. Poston guides her Medical Genetics students through a lesson.

Dr. Poston also teaches Introduction to Clinical Medicine, a class not necessarily intended for those pursuing careers in the medical field, but rather focuses on the study of disease and prevention - appropriate for students interested in the human body or healthcare other than medicine or nursing. When discussing another course she teaches, Poston reminisces, "Years ago, Mr. Sens called me into his office and asked, 'If you could teach any class, what would it be.'" Her answer? Medical Genetics. A course was born - a class covering cutting-edge genetics research as well as the exploration of medical, ethical and legal issues that result from access to this information. This is one of Carroll's Dual-Credit course options, in partnership with Sinclair Community College. Dr. Poston, as author, is continuously revising the textbook for this course, recognizing the fact that this field is so new and evolving, the textbook needs to evolve with it.

The Poston family enjoying a summer vacation.

Dr. Poston still teaches part-time, in theory. Her typical day consists of teaching five classes, nearly every day averaging 6-10 students asking questions after school, either checking on work or working on their health care project, and stays well after students have gone home. She is content that she can still be available to her children, all three, recent Carroll graduates - Howard '09, Brittany '11 and Jonathan '13. She regularly takes online courses through Coursera and EDx, from such universities as MIT and Duke, to see how education is changing, as well as to update her own. Outside of Carroll, she enjoys hiking with her family and reading.

Why does a pediatrician continue to teach at a Catholic high school? Dr. Poston responds, "These are challenging courses to teach and I love to learn new things. While I could connect with a patient for five minutes, at Carroll, I get to connect with students for fifty. I enjoy working with teenagers - they ask the best questions!"

Impactful Visits

Elementary students appreciate Anatomy workshops presented by Dr. Poston and her students.

Dear Dr. Poston and Students,

Thank you for taking the time to tell us about the Exercise, Muscular, digestive, and other systems. I learned more than I ever really knew about the body. I enjoyed every thing you prepared for us, especially the dissected body parts! Thank you very much for the folder of activities.

Sincerely,
Gabriel

Dear Dr. Poston and Students,

Thank you for taking the time to come to St. Peter. I appreciate this wonderful learning experience you prepared for us. My favorite station was the skeletal system. I found it tough trying to break extremely sturdy bones. I couldn't believe how hard it was. Our group had a good laugh with this activity. Even though I didn't enjoy touching all of the gross and smelly body parts, including the brain and digestive system of an animal, it was quite interesting. I was surprised to find out that there is a 5th blood type called "X". I learned many interesting facts at each station. Overall, I had a fantastic learning experience and enjoyable time.

Sincerely,
Aligail

Heartbeat

Dear Carroll Students of Anatomy and physiology, and Doctor Poston,

I would like to thank for taking time out of your day to make such awesome and informational displays for us to enjoy and for coming to our school to teach us such wonderful things about anatomy and physiology. I had so much fun squishing so many smelly insides (no, really! I lost it :)) and breaking bones. Someday I hope I can do this again. Thank you!

(P.S. sorry that the liver is so scientifically incorrect.)

Thinking of you,
Aligail

ON THE ROAD TO STATE...

Carroll Women's Tennis player, Jillian Milano, began her freshman season with many impressive wins, including 1st place Singles finishes at both the Schroeder Invitational Tournament and the Carroll-sponsored Jennifer Schmidt Memorial Tournament. The Carroll Women's Tennis team completed their season with an overall 17-4 league record. Milano capped off her regular season play with an overall league record of 24-3, and qualified for the Division II Singles State Tennis Championships - the first Carroll Women's Tennis player to qualify since 1992! In the first round, Milano played strong, challenging the player who went on to win the Division II State Tennis Championship.

Carroll Men's Cross Country team had a tremendous season. Their road to State started with capturing the All GCL Co-Ed Championship. With a 1st Place win at Districts, they went on to finish strong at Regionals, placing 3rd, thus qualifying for the Division II State Championships for the 10th time in 11 years. Their season ended with a respectable 12th place finish! The seven team members representing Carroll were: Paul Bete, Quintin Elking, Kevin Sheedy, Dakota Brunzman, Mike Laughlin, Dean Ohde, and Mark Mueller.

On Saturday, October 19, Carroll hosted the Red, White & Blue Affair in the gymnasium. Over 170 people attended this fun night, which included a Live and Silent Auction with many unique items including trips, lunch with Hal McCoy and front row seats at graduation.

After an opening prayer from host, Principal Matt Sableski, a fabulous dinner buffet was provided by The Amber Rose Restaurant. Delightful desserts were donated by Cake, Hope and Love; Frosted Bake; Ele' Cake Company; and The Cake Oven. Tammy L. Brown Photography donated time to capture fun memories of each attendee. The evening was packed with amazing entertainment by The Carroll Jazz Band and a special performance by the award-winning Marching Patriots and cheerleaders. Then came the Live Auction, hosted by Pam Staton Tipps '91 and Dr. Greg Notestine '71. Wrapping up the evening, the alumni-rich Kim Kelly Orchestra provided fantastic dancing music.

For the first time ever, the Linden Avenue Balloon Pop provided people a chance to be winners by purchasing a balloon and winning various prizes valued from $5 to $30. The big winner of the Heads and Tails game was Bob Seymour, who walked away with a brand new iPad, graciously donated by Steve and Dayan Harlamert. To end the evening, the winners were chosen for the See The USA raffle which are listed below.

1st Prize | 7-Day Maui Vacation
Beth Root

2nd Prize | 7-Night Alaskan Cruise
Carrie Dunne

3rd Prize | Weekend in Chicago
Steve Dunham

The Red, White & Blue Committee members extend a very special thank you to our donors and attendees. Overall, it was a fantastic evening that raised over $20,000 for continued facility improvements here at Carroll High School! Everyone in attendance felt it was truly A GREAT DAY TO BE A PATRIOT!

A Welcome Addition

Promised in 2012, fulfilled in 2013, new steps and railings provide a fresh and welcoming impression; a true reflection of Carroll High School. Thank you to the sponsors and patrons of the 2012 Patriot Pride Gala, who stepped up for Carroll and helped fund the replacement of the original front steps. Thanks also to the Ruhlin, Thomeczek and Glaser families who purchased a 'step' to help us meet the goal! For over fifty years, these steps welcomed countless Patriots and community members to our halls. But fifty, in step years, is old, and weather and wear had taken its toll. We are proud to say the transition is complete and ready for the next fifty + years!

Work began this summer with the removal of the existing steps and railing, guided by current Carroll parent and architect, Brian Connair, who helped with the smooth transition. At the beginning of fall, new steps were poured and the look was completed in November, with handsome new railings, embedded with the cross that adorns the front façade.

Principal Matt Sableski states, "This project was important from an aesthetics and safety standpoint, but designing something that highlighted our Catholic identity at the entrance of the school was critically important."

Along with the front steps, there is another new welcoming feature at Carroll this school year - student greeters.

As one of the many roles of the new Patriot Ambassador program, student greeters graciously sacrifice a coveted Study Hall to help in the daily routine of greeting visitors as they are authorized to enter the school building by the main office staff. They provide guidance and/or escort visitors to their correct destination, and help at events throughout the school year, such as Orientation, 8th Grade Visits, Open House, etc. Student greeter, Anthony Meeker, shares, "It is a pleasure working with people and knowing they will get to where they need to go."

"designing something that highlighted our Catholic identity at the entrance of the school was critically important"

Railing details highlight the same crosses that adorn the front façade of the school.

Student Greeters Noah Ogle and Latai'ja Johnson

"If you are friendly, helpful, responsible, of good character, and proud to represent Carroll High School, we encourage you to apply for a Student Ambassador role."

This is the tag line that netted well over 200 students in applying to be a Patriot Ambassador - an impressive response, reflecting the servant-minded attitude of our students.

Other Patriot Ambassador roles: Tour Guides, Shadow Leads, Speakers, Marketing Representatives, and Task Masters.

CARROLL COUPLES

Within the halls of Carroll High School, students find knowledge, faith, goals, friendship and, sometimes, love. Amazingly, 7% of Carroll alumni (@800) are married to other Carroll alumni!

Are you a Carroll Couple? Did you meet your spouse and sweetheart at Carroll High School?

To celebrate Valentine's Day, below are two featured Carroll Couples who graciously submitted their stories for this publication. If you have not yet submitted your story, and you'd like to share it with fellow alumni, be sure to check out this page. You can submit your own story there as well as read other Carroll Couple stories.

Linda (McLeod) '66 and Jim Chervenka '66

Linda and Jim leaving for Carroll Prom, 1966

Linda and Jim met during their junior year at Carroll while they were both involved in the Drama Club. Their first big date was the senior prom. Linda remembers: "It took him a while to ask me out. He would drive everyone home after working on the set for the play, 'I Remember Mama.' He was the only one with a car at that time. On one particular night, he dropped me off last which was unusual and he asked if I would 'give him the honor' of attending the prom with him."

Linda and Jim dated through the summer of '66. Then, Jim moved to Grand Rapids, Michigan, to attend Aquinas College. Linda moved with her family to Athens, Greece, when her father was transferred there. (Like many at Carroll, he was in the Air Force.) Linda lived in Athens for two years. During that time, they corresponded through the mail. "Jim wrote every day!" Linda states, "Of course, there was no internet at that time."

Eventually, Linda returned to Dayton to live for a while until she, too, came to Grand Rapids to attend Aquinas College. Jim remembers: "She roomed with a couple of my female friends from the theatre department. Good Catholic school, you know!" Then, Jim moved to Detroit, Michigan to attend Wayne State University to work on his Master's degree while she continued at Aquinas. He was forced to drop out of Wayne State after his apartment was broken into and everything was stolen. Jim then returned to Grand Rapids and Linda left to study in Ireland for a semester and do work at the Abbey Theatre in Dublin.

When Linda returned to Grand Rapids, Jim met her and said, "We have been going together for about seven years...and have seen each other for about one year of that time. Will you marry me?" Jim presented her with a ring...to which she said yes! Jim explains, "Since Linda's father had passed away a couple of years before and her family was already coming to Grand Rapids for her graduation from Aquinas, we decided to 'kill two birds with one stone,' so to speak. She graduated on Saturday and we were married on the stage at Aquinas College the next day on May 20, 1973. The priest, who performed the ceremony, had to get permission from the bishop during the graduation ceremony for us to get married on a Sunday...and we have been married for 40 years this year with four children and two grandchildren."

Kathy (McDonald) '89 and Mike Moddeman '87

Kathy and Mike on Mike's last day at CHS, May 1987

Kathy was a 15-year-old sophomore and Mike was a 17-year-old senior when they first met. Kathy and her friends (Carmen Luzio '89, Brooke MacGregor '89 and Shannon Meyer '89) were eating McDonald's in Miss Huber's room after school while waiting for their ride to work. Mike and his friend, Mike Bereda '87, came in to hang out and tried to eat their french fries. This encounter turned into daily meetings in the hallway before and after school and between classes. Kathy and Mike would write notes and pass them to each other between classes or slide them through the slit in the locker.

Their first date was February 15, 1987 when they met at the Beaver Creek 7 Cinemas (where the new Kroger's is now) to watch Mannequin. Kathy remembers, "I'll never forget...Mike was wearing his senior T-shirt and jeans." Their first dance was Turnabout where Kathy asked him out and then he asked her to his senior prom. Before Mike graduated, they broke up but always remained friends. They would keep in touch with letters and cards. (Kathy still has every note, letter or card that Mike wrote to her.) Or, they would get together for a movie, bowling or putt-putt. All in all, they broke up four different times but always said that if it were meant to be, it would happen. Through Kathy's remaining two years at CHS, Mike would come back for some of her dances including her senior prom. When Kathy was a junior at The

University of Dayton and Mike was at Wright State, he proposed at the stroke of midnight on New Year's Eve 1992. They were married on May 22, 1993 at Our Lady of the Rosary Church after dating on and off again for over six years.

Since then, Mike and Kathy went to graduate school at The University of Kentucky together and moved back to the Dayton area to be closer to family and friends. They have three children: Abby, 14, a freshman at Carroll, and Will, 12, and Jacob, 6, both at St. Luke.

Kathy states, "We have really enjoyed coming back to Beaver Creek and spending time with our Carroll High School family. I have been able to get involved with the Red, White and Blue Affair Committee and with the Boosters. We have reconnected with old friends and have met so many more new and wonderful people at CHS. We have enjoyed seeing some of our teachers from when we were at Carroll. Walking the halls and spending time in the gym watching Abby play volleyball and basketball brings back wonderful memories of Carroll. Carroll High School will always hold a special place in our hearts since this is where we met. We look forward to making many more special memories and friends while watching our children grow up in a school we cherish."

Thank you to the hundreds of volunteers and dedicated committee members who planned these events!

Reunions & Events, June-December 2013

The Class of 2003 10-year anniversary was held on June 14-15, 2013. On Friday, classmates gathered at Gilbert's Party Barn in Xenia and, on Saturday, met at Indian Riffle Park in Kettering for a picnic. Pictured here are some fun photo booth memories from Friday night.

The Class of 1968 45-year reunion was held during the weekend of June 28 and 29, 2013. Friday night was a casual get-together at Quaker Steak & Lube with snacks and a cash bar. Saturday night was a sit-down dinner at the Hope Hotel at WPAFB. Pictured here are the reunion attendees.

The Carroll High School women's soccer program joined with the Alumni Association in organizing the Patriot 5K Run/Walk on Saturday, July 27, 2013. 112 participants chose to support this event in the pouring rain! Total profit raised was $2,526. Thanks to the sponsors of this event: Fire and Explosion Consultants (Scott Bennett); United Pacific Pet (Jim Butler '74); Beiser Greer & Landis, LLP (Jim Fleisher '85); Chiropractic Associates of Centerville (Pat O'Bryan '03); Dayton Strength and Conditioning (Becky & Adam Rogers '01); CHS Distinguished Alumni Hall of Fame Committee; Nana's Sweet Treats (Jayne Schrempp); Dairy Queen (Drew Hilgeford '89); BSMW (Chris O'Bryan '07); and Runners Plus. Pictured here are runners leaving the starting line.

The Class of 1973 held their 40-year reunion on Friday, August 2, 2013 at the Quaker Steak & Lube restaurant. Everyone enjoyed seeing fellow classmates, sharing memories, and talking about grandchildren and retirement. Pictured here are some of the reunion attendees.

The Class of 1993 celebrated 20 years over the August 9-10, 2013 weekend. Approximately 70 classmates showed up either on Friday night at the Kettering BW-3 Blazin' room or Saturday night at the Christopher Club. So many classmates talked about the great experience Carroll High School gave them, how enjoyable it is to reminisce about high school days, but also be grateful of where they are today. Pictured here are reunion attendees on Saturday.

The 16th Annual Alumni Golf Outing was held at Beaver Creek Golf Club on Friday, September 6, 2013 with 108 golfers. $6,708 was raised to support the Alumni Association in furthering the advancement of Carroll and in providing Carroll legacy scholarships. Before the Carroll vs. Badin football game, the Carroll band marched down the field playing the Fight Song and Alma Mater, along with the alumni band members and alumni drill team members. The 2013 Inductees to the Athletic Hall of Fame were also announced during half-time. Pictured here are alumni band members Randy Brun '77, Dan Eckhart '85, and Myrna (Fisher) Gazzerro '81.
